

President's Message

Fall is around the corner. Major excitement is building and activities are swirling around us. TVHS is bringing some of the best and highly renowned program lectures to our members.

The TVHS Sunday Lecture Series will be held in the grand, historic Kimball Theater at 428 W. Duke of Gloucester Street (downtown Williamsburg). Mark your calendars for our first event of the season on October 6, 2024 with Calder Loth (more details below). Visit the www.TV-HS.org to register. Members are free. Guests are welcome with a $10 fee paid at the door.

In November we are excited to bring Winston Churchill to the Kimball Theatre with three unique programs! Bring your friends and attend all three! Tickets are $35 (per lecture) purchased through the Kimball Theater. Information on tickets will be available around September 1, 2024.

We want to thank a TVHS member, Kim Defibaugh, who has provided a delightful summary of the TVHS May 9th Bus Trip to Richmond, VA for this newsletter.

The TVHS Board would also like to recognize some of our board members. A huge shoutout to Paige Jessee, Program Director, for all the amazing lectures and bus trips. Many of you have let us know that these trips and lectures have been highly educational, unique, as well as enjoyable. Janie Moyers, Membership Director, has gone beyond the norm and is leading the November TVHS sponsorship for Randy Otto, portraying Winston Churchill. Krista John keeps us current for the TV-HS.Org website and designing of our TVHS Newsletter.

If you are currently not a member of TVHS, now is the time to join!

Private Tour: The Historic Kimball Theatre

The Kimball Theatre

Join us for private tour of Williamsburg's historic Kimball Theatre! We will tour the 91-year-old theatre which opened in 1933 and will now be the home of our upcoming TVHS lectures and special guest appearance of Winston Churchill in November. We'll end the tour with a walk across the parking lot to Precarious Beer Project for good food, good drinks, and good times!

Sunday, October 6th | 2PM

Calder Loth, Sunday Lecture Series

The Kimball Theatre

Virginia is home to our nation's greatest leaders and its most hallowed ground. It is also one of the first states in the country to recognize the importance of protecting historically significant buildings, landmarks and properties.

Our TVHS Sunday Lecture Series welcomes Virginia's preeminent architectural historian Calder Loth to the historic Kimball Theatre in downtown Williamsburg. He is the retired Senior Architectural Historian for the Virginia Department of Historic Resources where he served for over 40 years and was instrumental in the development of Virginia's state preservation easement program which has led to the preservation of so many of our historic landmarks. He is a sought-after lecturer, serves on the advisory committees for several Virginia landmarks including Preservation Virginia, Historic Richmond Foundation, Gunston Hall and many others and an author with works including: The Virginia Landmarks Register and The Making of Virginia Architecture.

A Member's View

May 2024 Richmond Bus Tour

A busload of TVHS members traveled to Richmond on May 9th for a day long tour of historic sites. First stop was the domed Memorial Church, built in 1814 on the site of the Richmond Theater where 72 patrons perished in an 1811 fire. After a guided tour of the inside of this Greek Revival Church, all were invited into the basement to view the crypt built to hold the ashes of 71 victims.

Next, we experienced a casual tour of Chief Justice John Marshalls' House, built in 1790 and his residence for 45 years until his death.

Our third stop was Masons' Hall, the nation's oldest continuously used Masonic building. Constructed 1785-1787, John Marshall encouraged financial support for the project and it served as a meeting place for founding fathers

During our guided tour through 3 floors, we spied a painting of Lafayette. On October 30, 1824, during his Farewell Tour, Lafayette was honored at Masons' Hall and feted at a banquet presided over by John Marshall.

Our historic sites tour concluded with a visit to Historic St. John's Church built in 1741. After entering the simple, white clapboard building we were greeted by colorful stained glass windows, beautiful chandeliers, and an altar with needlepoint kneelers for each of the 13 colonies. During 1775, the assembly of the Second Virginia Convention met in St. John's Church and prominent attendees included George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Richard Henry Lee. On March 20, 1775, Patrick Henry stood in front of this altar and inspired his fellow countrymen with his "Give me liberty, or give me death" speech.

The day concluded with attendees enjoying a private, narrated boat tour of the Kanawha Canal along downtown Richmond's historic Canal Walk.

By the way, no one went home hungry, just tired! A midday lunch was enjoyed by all and there was no limit to snacks served on the bus.

Thanks to Paige Jessee for the time and effort that went into planning this educational and enjoyable day for members.

It is always delightful to hear from our membership. Kim Defibaugh, we thank you for noting several key sites and unique discoveries.
